SOMETHING ON HIS HIP. A man, a woman and a baby came into the train this morning. The woman earted the infant. Somebody gave her a seat. The man stood in front of them. His hip pocket bulged proceptibly and I felt sorry for the poor woman and sorrier for the poor woman and sorrier for the poor which, tied up to a husband and father who in these days will foolishly take chances with alleged whiskey. The baby began to cry and father reached for his hip and produced a nursing bothis hip and produced a nursing bot-tle, full to the brim.—Dave Lasker, No. 3 Allen Street.

MOTHERS NEVER FORGET. I saw a mother with her seven chil dren in Central Park. She was spreading Jam on slices of bread. Each of the seven was singing 'Don't forget me, Ma, don't forget Me, '-Lena Beckman, No. 165 Manhattan Avenue.

JERSEY WILL BAR MIXED BOUT FOR HEAVY TITLE

If Tex Rickard is successful in landing the proposed heavyweigh championship fight between champio Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills, the colored heavyweight, he will not stage the bout at Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City.

In speaking of the fight to the writer to-day, Commissioner McNair of the Jersey Boxing Commission

"I have always been opposed to fight being held in New Jersey be tween Jack Dempsey, who is a white man and Harry Wills the colored fighter.

"The ministers of New Jersey ar not so much opposed to the staging of the bout between Benny Leonard and Lew Tendler as they are against the bout between Dempsey and Wills and for that reason they intend to put up a far more bitter argument against the holding of a mixed bout for the heavyweight championship. "I think myself Dempsey and Will should settle their differences in State aside from New Jersey, and I intend to do all in my power to prevent staging the bout here."

AND IT WAS A FINE JOB GETTING THEM READY.

Two women with their six children, waiking the length of a car on a Brooklyn "L" train. With one woman were three boys, each about five years old, all dressed in white, the perfect pictures of one another. With the other woman, three little girls, about seven, all dressed allies. The women booked all dressed allke. The women looked like. I thought they were sisters and wins. Each set of children looked like riplets. They certainly made an in-cresting picture.—Elsie T. King, No. 0 West 57th Street.

ICE CREAM ON HIS LONG PANTS I saw a regular sport, about four-teen, wearing his first pair of "longtes,' take two girls and two boys of about the same age for a taxi ride. They rode three blocks, from River side Drive to Amsterdam Avenus, and pulled up in front of am parlor, where the host treated bunch to see cream. Among se present was the taxi driver.— Helen, Amsterdam Avenue.

HOW SWEET, HOW YOUNG AND Several very small girls, playing house in St. Mary's Park. "Go to sleep," i leard one little girl tell another, "I won't either," was the reply, "I'm the father." "Well," said the first little girl, after thinking it over for a minute, "mothers always tell fathers what to do," Won by the argument, the other one closed her eyes and stretched out on the bench.—Dora Albert, No. 621
